oh my, oh boy, oh guys, Ok.....

there's so many cafes near by my studio there's tons of

there's myriads of

there's loads of you know, it's ubiquitous. they're literally scattered everywhere.

there's this one place that I love. it's called 'coffee land'

--- 영화면 영화이름 공원이면 공원 이름 등등 ---- coffee land makes me feel like I'm home. there's tons of cafes in korea but they are usually all franchises. (but most of them are franchises) what I like about this place is that it's not a franchise... it's not overflowing with many loud, obnoxious (짜증나는) customers. so it is cozy and I feel relaxed.. I mean it's just so relaxing wherever i'm there. that's why I love going there. but you know, it's funny. since I feel like myself here and that they also play classic, sometimes I can't even tell whether i'm at home or at a cafe tell me about memorable incident that happened at a coffee shop. what happened? who was involved? how did you deal with the situation? tell me everything about what happened from beginning to end memorable incident...all right I think I have the perfect story. hum I once borrowed my girl friend's laptop and I pretty much got into a big fight with her because of that at twosome place. oh, I found her so annoying..at then i was waiting for her at twosomeplace. you know..all of a sudden, I felt like going to the washroom. so I left with leaving the laptop on the table. all of thing, my girl friend came to the coffee shop and she was shocked to see the laptop alone. I think she couldn't believe that I left to go to bedroom without taking the laptop. what you have to realize is that she was just being so crazy about her laptop. and you know, when I came back. he was like 'hey are you crazy? What were you thinking?' humm,..can you believe it? anyway ...this made my blood boil to the max. I couldn't believe how obnoxious she was being and uh...what am I trying to say. uh, we ended up fighting and she apologized for being stupid. And we were able to make up in the end.

I couldn't believe how stuffed I was (얼마나 배부른지 모르겠다) i couldn't believe how beautiful the mountain was um I think it was Cafemore when I was in high school days. but I can't say for certain. anyway I think that place was more known for their ice-cream than their coffee. and you know, they put so many toppings and I thought it was wonderful. my friends and I went there for the first time after an exam. that was how we celebrate(it was our way to celebrate). when we went there, they had parfait which was pretty much/something like ice-cream with fruits and snacks in a tall cup. I would say/ I would have to say it was quite pricey(it cost a lot / it was expansive) for students. but they gave us free bread too. so I thought it was quite worth it. you know. i'm telling you(it's funny) because their ice-cream was so good that we didn't even think about ordering any coffee. and so, it was pretty ice-cream-tastic if you know what I mean you know, I really love baseball. but you know what, i'm a pretty big guys and so I absolutely hate running if you know what I mean where do people in your country go to in their free time? Do they go to park or beaches? tell me everythings about the places people go to in their free time.

I guess people usually go to parks whenever they have free time because you have the freedom to do various activities there. and um, I think people love to options at a park. people love it, especially when they get to choose what they can do and want to do at a park. and um you know, the.... the parks there have a lot of trails.(the...you know many parks have trails) so many people tend to ride their bikes there. and um. the scenery's great and the air is quite fresh and you know what? uh what am I saying..ah yeah some people prefer relaxing instead. and so a lot of them. ... a lot of them enjoy eating chicken and drinking beer and um.. chat up a storm with their friends. but you know what that's a common thing to do here in Korea. And, of course, there is another option. you can just simply lie down on the grass. And occasionally, you can even see some people busking. Those random performances are definitely uh special treat. I think you know, it's a no brainer to go to parks because there are so many things to do there. and it's like a playground for adult Think about what you did during your free time as a child. Do you have more free time now than when you were a child? Tell me about your free time now compared to when you were a child.

Whenever I have free time these day, I just wanna go to movie theatre whether alone or with my friends. but I think I didn't do anything much when I was a child whenever I had my free time. And um, during those time/ back then, I really liked to stay at home and just relax. And my mom was usually like, "Sons, are you done with your homework?" or "clean up your room!" um you know what, whenever I had free time, she always nagged at me to do something more productive. To tell the truth, my mother nagged like nobody's business! The nagging was like a deafening drum. and um, I found it so annoying... I never understood why she wouldn't just let me be. But now, I have more freedom from my mom. and you know what, whenever I had free time, I really like to go to the movies, and um, luckily, there's a movie theatre named megabox nearby my studio. And I think i'm starting to get old now because I don't feel like going too far if you know what I mean. And um, I'm not sure if I have more free time now as an adult but what is for certain(no doubt / for sure) is that I have definitely(absolutely, without a doubt), more freedom from my mom's nagging q: Can you tell me about the last time you had some free time? when was it? what did you do? did you spend the time with someone?

ok, I went to Switzerland with my sister about a few months ago. And it was friggin'(really, extremely) awesome because I got to go skydiving. And um.. just talking about it makes me wanna call up my sister and go there again. Anyway, we stayed there just for a few days. And I didn't have that much time to travel. so I had no choice but to choose only one activity. and you know what, if only I had more time....Anyway, I decided to go skydiving as main activity. And believe it or not, I didn't feel nervous at all before I went skydiving. but you know, when I was about to jump, I was like, 'oh,my got, oh,my got. I can't do this! I can't. how can I do this!' And then, I think I passed out for a sec. and you know , when I woke up, ok, you know, I lost all my fear, and I thought it was the most thrilling thing that I've ever experienced. and um, the next thing you know, I was on the ground. oh after this test, I think I should call up my sister and, you know go for round 2.

q: what kinds of technology do people typically use in your country? Do people use computers, cellphones, of hand-held devices? what are some common forms technology that people use?

so, in Korea, our smartphones are very important. everyone owns a smartphone. This is part of our(R) life. it's able to connect to the internet and so it's kind of like a mini computer. it's just so versatile(용도가 많은). it allow us to set an alarm before we go to bed(before he hit the sack / before we catch some z's). In the we morning we wake up, you know, the first thing you hear is your alarm sound. And as soon as you wake up, you'll probably check your notifications. we're just so attached to it(핸드폰 없이는 못 살아요)you know, we're pretty much/ so dependent on it (너무 중독되어 있어요) . and it's so connected to every single part of our life.(우리 삶의 모든 부분) it's like, we're at the point in our lives where we need it and cannot live without it. wherever we are and whenever we are. So smartphones are technological devices that we use quite frequently in our country.

oh alright, you know, I gotta tell you the story related to my airpods. i'm sure you have heard of Apple's airpods, right? Um, anyway, you know, I was really pissed off in the library a few weeks ago. because, um, the wireless earbuds um was not connected with my phone. so my music was actually playing out loud in the library! um, just for the record(참고로 말하면), I usually prefer listening to music while studying. so during the day, as always, I was preparing to listen to music before studying. so I made sure there were no problem with my bluetooth. but as soon as I played my first song, it turned out there was problem. so my song played out loud in the library in the really quiet library. I was really embarrassed. so, I was like. "WTF is going on?(뭔일이 있는 거야 / WTF is happening / WTF)" I was really trying to stop the music. but I couldn't.. you know, I was not able to. you know, you know what, if you are too embarrassed, then it is really impossible to do pretty much easy things. I ended up stopping the music. but it was too late. so I was able to feel like all the other people in the library were giving me some cut eye(짜려보다). it was quite embarrassing. yeah, I was really scared. Anyway this is the most unpleasant(불쾌한) story that I remembered which happened recently(최근에 일어난) I learned an important lesson. nowadays, wireless earbud have been trending(유행하는) all over world(전 세계에 걸쳐서) but um you know sometimes, earbud with wire is just way better (훨씬 더 좋다)

당신의 나라 사람들이 입는 옷을 설명-패션트렌드와 특별한 패션에 대해 설명하라 /

Special fashion? um..let me think,, I think many people try to wear clothes from the past in Korea because modern clothes are really not that different. yeah, people always want to be special. Many people wear hanbok when they want to celebrate, not only on special occasions such as weddings, but also when they want to take pictures at memorable places. I've been to a lot of weddings recently, and these days, people wear hanbok rather than dresses. This is also related to fashion trends. If you look at the clothes of celebrities these days, you figure out that they like to wear clothes which you can only see in old pictures. I think the start of fashion trend is celebrities' clothes. So I am usually able to see that clothes look like old fashion. Whenever I see them in person, I feel that I'm right. Oh, I learned something important. Fashion follows the past, right? I've learned that the past is the greatest teacher of the present.

패션은 항상 변한다-어릴때와 현재의 인기 패션을 말하라. / fashion.. where I begin... alright. I'm telling you about sportswears which I really love since there's been pretty much a big change especially in Korea compared to the past. you know, these days, many people like to wear a sportswear which is awesome because it is so comfortable and we are also able to show ourselves by wearing a sportswear. I mean... I think people surely love to be shown who they are. they don't hesitate to show their figure by wearing sportswear. it's totally different story compared to the past especially in Korea. in the past, we couldn't wear sportswear because a lot of people thought sportswear were gangster clothes. and um, many parents were usually all conservative. in my case, when I was young, whenever I was about to go out in sweatclothes. my mother always was like, "Put on neat clothes" or "Are you a bully? what's with your clothes." yeah you know what Ava, I was just trying to go out in a sportswear, and um.. but you know these days, what you have to realize is that my mother also loves to wear sportswear. isn't it funny? My mother who was so conservative has changed!. and um, it's not just my mother. now many people totally perceive sweatclothes as a fashion. How fantastic! I am able to put on a sportswear wherever I go or whenever I feel like !
